Me.

I am damned tired, after each campaign, of leading off this column with the above singular personal pronoun.

I have done considerable figuring on the subject, and I have come to this conclusion: the elementary and fundamental reason that Tom Bailey won was that he got the most votes.

Without going into statistical details, Me and Mike were defeated by Tom Bailey and Fred Sullivan. Why worry about the exact figures.

If you are expecting to cry on anybody's shoulders, do not cry on mine for, if Me and Mike are not accustomed to being beaten, who's hell is?

I am very deeply grateful to my Bailey friends of little faith who would not take that hundred dollars that I offered, I virtually won $100 on the election because the Bailey boys would not put their money where their inclinations were.

If this race showed anything, it showed that Mississippi is definitely Conner and anti-Conner, and that the latter group is a little larger than the Conner group.

I believe that the Clairon-Ledger's refusal to publish an ad for Tom Bailey—even if that newspaper was technically right—and the vicious attacks of P. Sullivan on Tom Bailey mean the difference between defeat and success for Mike Conner.

While I was 100 percent for Mike Conner, I like Tom Bailey and I feel that he is going to be MY governor, too. I wanted nothing from Conner, and I feel that, should I approach Tom Bailey, I will get justice.

No endeth another chapter. My blood pressure is no higher or lower than usual. I have no tears to shed and no apologies to make.

I believe the readers would find some interesting reading in the Allowances of the City Council.

Graham Wilson, who has been on a furlough from our mailing list, reported back for duty Saturday and was fined $2.00, and he that dipple in the Bible, brought in his brother, L. O. Wilson.

Ellett Lawrence certainly got out a fine letter recently.

Help keep Horn out of devilment this week end. It's time some of you cotton men get some sales goods.

When the GOW arrives at the Old Dorm at Gettysburg, Pa., the mail orderly does not call out, "John Keeton," but calls out, "Grenada County Weekly," according to old John who recently visited his son there.

Personally, I am darn glad that the election is over.

Brother J. M. Beckum and I had a nice Sunday afternoon conversation. However we did not get together on the Governor's race. He is stubborn.

I failed to notice Murphree men and Franklin men coming to Conner in droves.

Me

Mike

Well, he is the Governor of all of us, like it or not.

Mike Lester down at Weslaco, Texas is receiving the GCW this week and will receive it a year through the courtesy of Cav. Heath.

How some of these moth eaten ladies of the evening make a living I do not know, unless they take in washing.

I forgot to mention last week that the free state got all of their local politics straightened out in the primary. Nothing but state officers were left to vote on Tuesday.

Howdydo Adams who is trying to stop something that he will never stop, should have about a month's vacation. A man should not be required to work seven nights a week continuously. I believe most of these soldiers would vote to give him a pay-off with full pay, and no substitutes while he was off.

According to what I consider reliable information, no soldier, white or colored, was killed Saturday night, but 16 civilians were put in the hospital, or, as some call it, the Hotel de Jail.

I do NOT write Brother Volle's ads. I wish I could. He is a bum-dinger.

Since revising our mailing list about 5 weeks ago, we have added 105 new subscribers, which would not be impressive except on the mailing list of a small country newspaper, the GCW gets around.

Our former Mr. Greenfield is living an exemplary life, perhaps not because of any reformation, but because Bert Bays is a better hand than I was in keeping him out of devilment.

We have published many cards of thanks, but have not yet had the privilege of publishing one from the soldiers to the City of Grenada for raising swimming pool rates from 15 cents to 25 cents. The ladies of the evening, the gamblers and the bootleggers are not the only ones who get the men who are preparing to fight our battles.

Tech. Sgt. James F. Field wrote in from abroad that he wanted the GCW, and it is starting with this issue. Hope you will be a Master Sgt. soon, James.

I often think of what Churchill said during England's darkest hour, when England's inadequate air force was powerless to restrain the stream of badly German planes which made rubble of many English cities. Churchill said, "We can take it, and, at the proper time, we will give it back." England and American planes are now engaged in giving it back in a fold.

TO THE PEOPLE OF GRENADA COUNTY

I want to thank you from the depths of my heart for electing me as your Sheriff. I have worked hard and long to get the job and I am going to work just as hard to make you a good Sheriff.

There was no pleasure in beating Mr. Parker, whom I consider a fine man, a gentleman in every respect and my friend. There was a pleasure however, in winning, in attaining the ambition I have long cherished. Your help my friends, I never can thank you enough.

To those of you who voted for my opponent I have the kindest of feelings. I know I have many friends among you.

CLAYTON CARPENTER.

TO MY FRIENDS IN BEAT FIVE

I take this method of thanking my friends for the splendid vote they gave me. I wish my opponent who was successful, the best of luck.

Clifton Martin.

Just For Fun

(By Favorite Correspondent)

Promotions are in order this week at the Air Field, and the first one on the congratulatory list is 1st Lt. Tom Richardson, now Captain Richardson. AC. He is the Adjutant you know at the Air Field. By the way, ladies, he lives at the B. O. Q. But that's not a sure sign.

Take the case of Lt. Snider, one of the most popular officers on the Post. He lives at the little Club house, but goes home to Kentucky for the romance. By the way, he caught a little cold on this trip, and says that it was from repairing the water system at his mansion in the country. Too much liquid diet.

Speaking of the brass-shouters, some of them must be bringing their own lunches lately, for last Saturday a vacuum bottle and an empty lunch sack was found in the Officers' Mess Hall. Enough said about Captain Laundrum's little Cafe up on the hill.

One popular place every Sunday is Calhoun City, the suburb a few miles east of Grenada. About fifty soldiers and WAC's leave the Field every Sunday to swim there.

But the Field itself is a popular place on Friday nights, when there is a weekly chapel program called "Story of the Classics." Every Friday, a group of the most well known and liked pieces of classical music is played for those who care to attend.

A third recreation at the Field is the playing of the art of war, or, as they say, as well as shooting at him. The Military Personnel has access to foreign records in several different tongues.

Now to skip to Camp McCain. Bit even at the Camp, the Air Field's football team, for at the Division Club Saturday night there were a group of silver wings and gold dates, who worked at the Air Field celebrating. Among them were the Allen girls, from the Field and Grenada, the Lioness of the Field Library, and Louis, 11-year-old of the C.M. army.

Also Dorothy McCracken, of Grenada, was there, but with the Infantry, as usual. Maybe I'm mistaken, but someone said that she was at the Divisions Club again Sunday night with another member of the foot-army.

Elizabeth Bailey is back from her visit to Chicago. Her brother is in Dental School there, just about to be a Dentist and give competition to his father, Dr. Bailey of Grenada. If he's as good a dentist as his dad, he can fill my teeth any day.

Evidently all the local charm wasn't enough to hold Lt. Marquette in Grenada this week end. He left for Jackson and Saint Ivy Brister as soon as he got out of the Hospital. Lt. KJlmer, also of the 348th, has been ordered away, and that will break up that double-dating to Jackson that he and Bob M. had been doing.

Speaking of visits and week-endings, Slim Greene, one of the contractors who helped build the Camp is here this week on business, but his friends insist on making it pleasure.

And another visitor this week is Mrs. Barksdale, of Camp McCain, who is spending a couple of weeks in northern Alabama at her home. She's the very attractive blond wife of Major Barksdale of Camp McCain. It is rumored that she is going home to pick up a few dozen new dresses.

We'll tell you the truth about the story next week.

THROUGH A WOMAN'S EYE

By Mrs. W. W. Whitaker

The Third War Loan Drive will be in on September 2nd and Grenada County's quota is $650,000.

Read that again, please! In April of this year, we over-subscribed our quota in Grenada County 240 percent, and Mississippi over-subscribed her quota 150 percent. We may not over-subscribe that much this time, but we will, WE MUST subscribe our quota in the 3rd War Loan Drive.

The ladies and gentlemen of Grenada County, who are giving of their time and energy, are your friends and neighbors, so please keep this in mind and be ready to receive them graciously when they call to present the necessity of your purchasing bonds during this drive. They are friends who are equally as busy as you are, and are patriotically doing their share of this important war work.

The drive will open officially on September 9th and it would be well for families to decide now on how much of their surplus money can be put into bonds in September.

The democratic way is to check the flow of money into bank deposits and put all surplus money into bonds.

OUR EXTRAVAGANCE IS JUSTIFIED

The extravagant offensive operations, in which millions of tons of explosives are used to "soften up" the enemy position, is to be preferred to sending our sons and the sons of our Allies into the very jaws of Hell and oblivion. If our sons can be saved it is worth every sacrifice we are capable of making.

This Third War Drive where every interest bearing bond we buy, is used to buy equipment and protection for our brave men who are facing death for us, we can justify our faith in America and her fighting men, and ever hold our head high because we too did our part by buying bonds.

NOTICE FROM HEALTH DEPARTMENT

Yellow fever carrier mosquitoes, listed as Aedes Egypti, have been found in the city of Grenada, and according to Dr. McGahay, head of Grenada County Health Unit, it will be a wise precaution to rid your property of any of all breeding places for mosquitoes without delay.

This particular "batch" of Aedes Egypti was found in a flower pot containing shallow water right in the home of a well known citizen. All lily pools, clogged up gutters, vases where vines are being rooted, and pans under eaves and in the shade of the eaves of the house, are likely breeding places. One of the likely places is in the bowl where sweet potatoes are being watered for vine decoration.

Every citizen is urged to make a close examination of their premises and make certain the mosquito is not breeding there. Do not expect others to do for you what you will not do for yourself. Look for breeding places for mosquitoes NOW.

I imagine the board of supervisors is going to do away with the office of county agent.

With the addition of John H. Nail, serviceman of Pensacola, we damn high have a keg of nails.

AIR CORPS BAND GAVE CONCERT SUNDAY AFTERNOON

The 381st Air Force Band of the Grenada Army Air Base, under the direction of Master Sergeant John Swick, gave a very entertaining musical concert in the public square late Sunday afternoon. A large group of soldiers and civilians gathered about to hear this organization which has made wonderful progress since its organization recently.

The National Anthem, as usual, was the concluding number, and it was a beautiful sight to see every soldier within hearing distance come to attention and raise his right hand to attention.

Mussolini's Meteoric Career Recalled as He Makes Exit

How Italy's Master Rose to Power and Why He Collapsed

By ELLIOTT J. PINE

On July 25, 1943, Benito Mussolini, dictator of Italy for 21 years, tearfully resigned his offices, and turned his government over to King Victor Emmanuel. The immediate reason for the dictator's relinquishing of power is said to be his inability to obtain greater military aid from Germany. The Fascist council voted 19 to 7 against accepting his plan of abandoning more than half the country to the Allies, and of establishing a defense line in the north. When Mussolini realized that he could not enforce his will as he was accustomed, he stepped out, or according to other accounts, was forced out.

More basic than this dispute on war plans, however, was the increasing and bitter distrust of Mussolini, and the Fascist party he headed. The Italian people, most observers say, never wished to enter World War II. Defeats, losses and hardships have turned the people of Italy away from Fascism, and revolt was brewing ever hotter. When Mussolini went, Fascism ended too.

King Victor Emmanuel, who has always retained the shadow of authority, has given the official version of the situation in this statement: "His Majesty, the King-Emperor, has accepted the resignation from the offices of chief of government, prime minister, and secretary of state, which was tendered by His Excellency, signor Benito Mussolini, and has appointed as chief of government, prime minister, and secretary of state, His Excellency, Marshal of Italy, signor Pietro Badoglio."

At the time this statement was made public, it was pretended that Mussolini's ill health was the reason for his leaving office, but this rather weak excuse was soon dropped.

The new government thus established by the king and Marshal Badoglio is generally considered to signify the end of the Fascist party. The structure that held Italy tightly for two decades apparently has collapsed by the removal of one man. Actually the party has been crumbling from within for years, say informed correspondents.

Fascism Began 24 Years Ago. "Fascism" as a name dates from March 23, 1919, when Mussolini and 145 others organized the "Fasci Italiani di Combattimento" meaning, "Italian fighting groups." The word "Fasci" comes from the old Roman symbol of authority, the "Fasces," a beheading ax with a bundle of scouring rods bound on the handle. It can be seen on the reverse of an American dime.

During the following two years, this little party increased rapidly. While Mussolini did not actually found it, perhaps, he at least was one of its earliest and strongest leaders. He soon came out in front, a vigorous man of 38, with a compelling manner and oratorical persuasiveness.

He was born in 1884, the son of a village blacksmith and country school teacher, in Predappio, Romagna province. When he completed grade school, he became a teacher in a neighboring village, and soon took to stump speaking for the Socialist party. His political activities brought him into several clashes with the law. He became a writer, and rose to be editor of the Socialist organ, "Avanti!"

During World War I, he served as a corporal, and he participated in the Fiume campaign of 1919. Soon after being discharged from service he met a few kindred spirits, and began the organization of the Fascists.

It was a time of great unrest and unemployment. Although victorious in the war, Italy had suffered heavy losses, and was oppressed by a ponderous war debt. Being a country naturally poor in resources and only slightly industrialized at the time, the post-war depression bore down more weightily than on other nations. Many were embittered about their frustrated hopes for territorial gains through the Versailles treaty. They blamed Britain and France for leaving Italy out.

The wealthy and conservative class feared the spread of communism, and many churchmen added their voices to the clamor. The national assembly was divided into numerous bickering and log-rolling factions, and the premier, signor Facta, was not a strong enough man for a crisis.

The March on Rome. Assembling the Fascist militia, the party's private army, in Civitavecchia, on October 27, 1922, he began the famous "March on Rome." When he approached the capital with 250,000 armed men, Premier Facta, and Marshal (then General) Badoglio begged the king, the same Victor Emmanuel, to stop the marchers with machine gun fire and the bayonets of the regular army. The king, who hated bloodshed, refused to give the order. Three days later, he acceded to Mussolini's demands, and appointed him premier. From that day onward, Mussolini has been continuously in complete control of Italy, until the other day. Ironically, he turned his power over to Victor Emmanuel and Badoglio, who might have stopped him 21 years earlier.

As soon as Mussolini found himself firmly in the saddle, he set about making himself and his party absolute. All political parties were banned except the Fascist, and many social, cultural and religious societies were closed down under the force of these laws. Party members were placed in every position of authority in the civil and military administration. Business and professional men soon found it to their advantage to join the party, or to get on good terms with some important member.

For a time, the Fascist regime appeared to be a decided benefit to Italy. Domestic order was restored, business and finance stabilized and encouraged, employment stimulated by public works, and a program of social benefits put into operation. The Fascist regime floated international loans, built hydroelectric plants, opened mines, drained swamps, introduced new manufactures, and in many ways brought temporary advantages and prosperity to Italy, accustomed to backwardness and poverty.

DON'T BOTHER THE PILOT—A propaganda poster showing Mussolini at the controls of a big bombing plane (he is an amateur flier), warned Italians in 1939 "not to disturb the pilot, especially when he is engaged in tempestuous navigation; nor ask the way at every turn."

This appeal for blind and unquestioning faith in the wisdom of the leader is the keynote of Fascism, as of all dictatorships. Mussolini "piloted" Italy into the war, then when the navigation really got "tempestuous" he "balled out."

But the Italians soon discovered the price of these gains was the loss of liberty. In 1925, Mussolini, or Il Duce, "the leader," as he liked to be called, had a law passed legalizing his position as prime minister, and rendering him responsible to no one but the king. This meant, in effect, that he could do as he pleased.

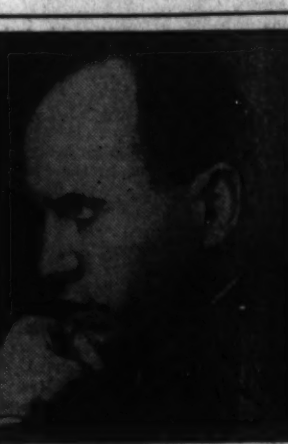

During the twenties Italy shared somewhat in the prosperity of the post-war world, but the great depression fell heavily on the nation, the more so because of its reliance on international trade. Its artificial prosperity began to crumble, despite tight controls, and unrest and dissatisfaction began to fester here and there, under cover.

Land Hunger. Meanwhile Mussolini was thinking of expanding Italy territorially. The League of Nations had prevented him from undertaking any small wars of conquest, such as were common in the 19th century. In 1923, he had a "casus belli" against Greece, but he did not push the issue to open war. Nothing occupied his large army excepting patrol action in North Africa.

In 1933, Adolf Hitler rose to power as chancellor of Germany, as head of the National Socialists, or Nazis, a party that had much in common with the Fascists of Italy. Mussolini soon welcomed his imitator, and began to plan international adventures.

Nevertheless, a year later, when Hitler began to threaten Austria, Il Duce offered to support that weak state. Next year Italy declared war

'Let Us Live Like Lions'

IN HIS SECOND YEAR of rule, 1923, Premier Mussolini was already showing his yearning to rattle the sword. He sent such a sharp diplomatic note to Greece on the murder of members of an Italian commission on the Greek-Albanian frontier, that world cancelleries feared a war was near.

on Ethiopia, Mussolini's first openly imperialistic move, and a successful defiance of the League.

Italian and German policies were moving closer together through similarity of interests, and Hitler and Mussolini began concluding a series of treaties and agreements that culminated in the formation of the "Rome-Berlin Axis."

Both Italy and Germany sent troops into the Spanish civil war. The Italian troops showed even then their distaste for fighting, but the officers gained valuable experience with new weapons and tactics, especially airplanes and tanks.

Mussolini joined in signing the Munich Agreement that was supposed to assure "peace in our time" as Neville Chamberlain put it. Knowing that a great war was around the corner Mussolini then turned his attention to bringing his army, navy, and especially his air force to full strength.

'Stab in the Back.'

When France was staggering to defeat in the spring of 1940, Mussolini thought he saw the long sought opportunity for important territorial acquisitions without much loss or risk. He entered to war on the side of Germany, hoping to get a few French islands. President Roosevelt characterized this move as a "stab in the back." From then on, Italy was in World War II. All looked rosy as long as the German blitzkrieg continued to smash ahead, but in 1941 English troops defeated the Italians in two widely separated African campaigns, and the Italian navy lost heavily in several actions.

Last year Italy went on the defensive. Mussolini sent some divisions to fight against Russia, others to North Africa, with the German Africa corps. Both sustained defeat and severe losses. The Italian people began to grumble ever louder against Fascism and Mussolini. He pinned medals on bereaved mothers and wives, made his famous balcony speeches, and tried to whip up morale with posters, parades of the youth organizations, and every other trick in his bag. But it didn't work.

Then came the North African campaign, when the Italian soldiers surrendered in large masses, plainly revealing their war-weariness. The invasion of Sicily moved so swiftly, not only because of the weight of armaments, but because of feeble resistance at many points. Everywhere the people welcomed the Allied troops.

When Rome was bombed, Mussolini's long hypnotic spell was broken. If he could not even protect the capital, said the people, how could he hope for victory? The Italians were tired of war, tired of privations and restrictions. Il Duce got out, just in time, according to majority opinion, to avert a civil war.

FASCISM ON THE RUN—A photograph showing Mussolini setting the pace for his army officers during maneuvers in September, 1935; ironically symbolizes the hasty exit of Fascism in July, 1943. This time, too, the running was fitfully led by Il Duce.

A SUBDUED AND TIRED OLD man, Mussolini, nearing 60, met Hitler a few months ago in a war conference. The former dictator, who once regarded "der Fuehrer" with disdain as an upstart imitator, has been forced to recognize the German as his master. For the last four years, Italy has been practically a vassal state.

Shrewd and realistic Mussolini probably could foresee his own downfall during the course of these anxious discussions.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY Lesson

GOD GIVES LAWS FOR HIS PEOPLE

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 23:1-9; Galatians 3:23-25; 5:13-14.
GOLDEN TEXT—Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbor as thyself—Luke 10:27.

Our God is a God of order. To have order we must have law, hence God gave His people not only the fundamental law of humanity's moral sense of right and wrong, and the Ten Commandments which are the basis of all codes of law, but also those detailed regulations needed for the law's interpretation.

The law of God was not intended to establish a legalistic system of salvation by work, but, as revealed in the New Testament, it was to guide and bring us to Christ, in whom it finds its true fulfillment.

These are matters of fundamental importance and suggest the need of a careful study of our three Scripture portions.

I. The Law Established (Exod. 23:1-9).

At Sinai the Israelites were brought into the presence of God in a dramatic and solemn assembly to hear the words of God from the mountain. These were later written as the Ten Commandments on the tables of stone. Here they learned in a new way of the majesty, the righteousness, and the love of God.

The Ten Commandments are recognized as the foundation on which all legal codes, ancient and modern, are built. They cover man's relation to God and his relation to his fellow man. They are unsurpassed as a comprehensive and compact statement of the moral law.

The passage in Exodus 23 gives us some of the rules and regulations for daily life which are in a sense an interpretation of the law. This portion gives us an idea of the type of laws provided by God for His people and reveals "the moral flavor of the whole divine legislation."

The thing which impresses us as we read of the divine requirements of justice toward all, of love for one's enemies, of refraining from false witness, of refusing all bribery, is that God's standards are very high.

God's law is good, it is right, of divine quality and perfect purity. It has, however, an even higher purpose than providing direction for life. We learn of that as we hear

II. The Law Described (Gal. 3:23-28).

What was the purpose of the law? It was and is a servant of God to lead the needy sinner to Christ. The word "tutor" in verse 24 does not refer to one who teaches, but the servant who saw to it that the school boy, possibly a bit reluctant, arrived at his destination.

The law convicts of sin and makes it evident to the repentant one that he needs divine help if he is ever to meet its demands. The law really puts a man in prison (kept in ward," v. 23), and makes him look to Christ to set him free.

When one trusts Christ he comes into the place of a son. He enters upon a spiritual maturity which makes it no longer necessary to have a tutor directing and disciplining him. He has entered into a new relationship by faith, and is a child of God.

Does this mean that the law has been set aside or abrogated? Not at all. Jesus Himself said, "Think not that I am come to destroy the law... I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill" (Matt. 5:17). This is our third point.

III. The Law Fulfilled (Gal. 5:13, 14).

Paul had warned against the folly of legalism. In Christ men are free from a slavish bondage to the law. But men, desiring to substitute license for liberty, were using the grace of God as an excuse for self-indulgence and sin.

Christ has set aside all the ceremonial requirements of the law, for He became the perfect, once-for-all sacrifice for sin, which was infinitely superior to all the offerings of the Old Testament law. He thus fulfilled the type of the offerings.

The moral requirements of the law were gathered up in Him, and in Him we have only one law to fulfill, the law of love. Obedience to that law meets all the moral requirements of the Old Testament law.

Liberty to the Christian is not a freedom to do as he pleases, not an occasion to the flesh that it may live in selfishness and sin. We are free only to be bound by the blessed law of love.

The tablets of stone were (and still are) important. Their laws have never been set aside or withdrawn. But in Christ God has done what He spoke of through Jeremiah the prophet. He has put His law in the Christian's inner being, and has written it in his heart. (Jer. 31:33).

Household Hints

To serve plain cake at its best, make only one layer at a baking. Instead of icing the entire top of the cake, put an inch wide band of icing around the edge. Sprinkle the top with chopped nuts.

Coal oil will remove adhesive from painted surfaces.

A piece of pipe is good to splice any spade or shovel handle when it cracks or breaks in two.

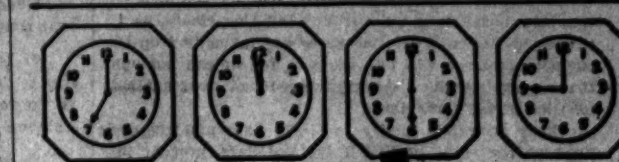

To save yourself these busy days, cut small mats from old felt hats and use them under vases, ornaments, flowers and book ends. They prevent scratching of polished furniture.

Paint will keep indefinitely in good condition if the lid of can is replaced tightly and the can turned upside down. The paint seals it, excluding the air.

Vinegar eliminates odors. Don't put away a frying pan that smells of onions, fish or some other strong-flavored food. Put some vinegar in the pan and bring to a boil. Then wash as usual.

If rain splatters dirt upon the windows from the window flower boxes, cover the top of the box lightly with gravel. This can be pushed aside when you wish to stir up the dirt.

The best way to dress geese and ducks is to pick off all the feathers possible before scalding them. Have the water boiling, put in one-half pound paraffin, scald the bird well and let cool 15 or 20 minutes. Then the down will come off in large flakes and the bird will be clean and have a better appearance.

WHERE THE AVERAGE CIVILIAN INCOME WENT

SICILY:

Last Stand

Forty thousand Axis troops were all that were left to stand between the Allies and complete conquest of Sicily as the last phase of the battle developed. Of the 40,000, it was estimated that 35,000 were German and the rest Italian.

Although heavily outnumbered by the 10 Allied divisions reported in action, the Axis relied on strong natural entrenchments hewed into the rugged mountains to hold up the British-American drive. The advance against these positions was difficult, with the infantry slowly picking its way up the craggy but barren slopes in the face of stiff mortar and machine gun nests which had held their ground even after fierce Allied artillery barrage.

After being stalled for two weeks in front of Catania, the British 8th army spilled into the city after overcoming strong Axis positions set up along the several rivers winding through the country and in the tall fields of grain. Aided by the navy's bombardment of the enemy's coastal positions along the Tyrrhenian sea, the U. S. 7th army's drive pointed eastward to Messina, the Axis' last communication link with the Italian mainland.

MINERS:

For Travel Pay

Pride might cometh before the fall, but in John L. Lewis' case, it was his interest in drawing underground pay for his 500,000 United Mine Workers that accounted for his appearance before the War Labor Board which he had so often berated in the past.

Occasion was the WLB's hearing on the Illinois Coal Operators' and UMW's agreement for payment of $1.35 a day to the miners for the time spent in traveling underground from the mine's entrance to the diggings. Lewis told the WLB that American coal miners are the only miners in any civilized country who receive no compensation for underground travel.

The agreement also calls for an eight instead of a seven hour day and a six-day work week, which, with the underground travel pay, would increase miners' daily checks by $3. Stating that 1,482 miners died from risks in the pits last year and 72,000 were seriously injured, Lewis said the extra working hours would increase the men's exposure to such accidents. Furthermore, he declared, the miners received just $37 more a year than the lowest classification of government clerical workers.

GRAIN:

Going East

Six hundred million bushels of corn were used during the second quarter of 1943, the department of agriculture reported, with supplies as of July 1 totaling 672 million bushels. Of this amount, 843 million bushels remained on farms.

As of July 1, the department stated that there was a supply of 390 million bushels of oats; over 300 million bushels of barley, and 46 million bushels of rye. Approximately 300 million bushels of wheat were found available for feed.

In relation to livestock, feed supply is reported to be 30 per cent smaller than last year and 14 per cent below average.

STRIKE

In the first test of the Smith-Connally law, 1,005 employees of two plants of the Allis-Chalmers company in Springfield, Ill., voted to strike in protest of the National Labor Relations board's refusal to grant District 80 of the United Mine Workers an election to determine its claim as collective bargaining agent.

A total of 836 voted against a strike.

The ballot read: "Do you wish to permit an interruption in war production in wartime as a result of this dispute?"

RUSSIA:

Offensive Climax

The height of the Russians' summer offensive was reached with the fall of Orel. After a month of hard fighting, Marshal Timoshenko's forces swept into the city, even as the bulk of 250,000 Germans was being withdrawn to new positions to the west.

October, 1941, Orel stood in ruin as the Russians moved in, with Nazi rear-guards tackling the Reds in hand-to-hand fighting in delaying action in the streets of the city.

In taking Orel, the Reds threw the full weight of their artillery, planes, tanks and infantry into the battle. Slowly, they ground down German resistance on the north, south and east sides of the city.

On the other end of the central front, the Reds announced capture of Belgorod.

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC:

At Munda

The American attack on Munda in the Solomons stands out as a classic of military strategy.

In the final stages of the battle against a fanatical enemy resisting to the death, American forces drew a tight noose around the Japs, with one column moving to the west of the defenders' line while two other columns hammered in from two ends on the east.

When American planes failed to sufficiently reduce the Japs' hidden pill-boxes hewed in the jungle brush, 13-ton tanks were called into the fray, and these crackled through the dense foliage to advance on the enemy's well-concealed positions and draw their fire. Their gun-fire guided the tanks to their entrenchments and these were quickly subdued with point-blank barrages.

With strong Jap points overrun on the east, American warships and airplanes then moved in along the coast to the west and laid down a thunderous volley into the enemy's positions. As this combined barrage shook up the Japs in their pillboxes and caves, American troops picked their way northward, to ring the enemy from the west.

TAXES:

Corporations' Share

What is the corporations' share of the nation's tax burden?

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau revealed that preliminary statistics show that 509,063 corporations filed returns for 1941. Except for 40,160 which were inactive with no income data, these corporations paid over seven billion dollars in normal, surtaxes and excess profit taxes. The government collected nearly 13 billion dollars in revenue for 1941, which would indicate that corporations accounted for almost 60 per cent of receipts.

Morgenthau reported that of the corporations reporting for 1941, 304,625 showed profits, with net income of 18 billion dollars. Approximately 43,648 more corporations made money during the year than in 1940.

NEW YORK.—Officials counting the ballots in the South African general election flash the word that Prime Minister Jan Christian Smuts and his pro-war regime have gained a clear majority, and there is rejoicing in all the Allied capitals. Back at the turn of the century no Boer military leader fought the British more bitterly than did this now bald and grizzled warrior of 73. Often hungry, often shoeless, he waged guerrilla warfare of the toughest sort then. Since that fighting ended, however, he has battled steadfastly on the side of the Empire.

It was he who crushed a Boer uprising at the start of World War I and went on to conquer the Germans in East Africa and become a British general. He saved South Africa for the United Nations, too, in 1939, routing the pro-Nazi forces of the late Gen. J. B. M. Hertzog at the polls to become prime minister for the second time after a 15 year lapse. His latest victory keeps South Africa firmly in the war.

Son of a poor and tough Dutch farmer, who trekked across the veldt with a Bible in one hand and a gun in the other, Smuts had reached his teens before he could read. Later he won high honors as a student at Cambridge university. Today with his pointed beard whitened by age he is still a paradox, a hard and cunning and skillful fighter and a philosopher who dares dream of a peaceful world. What's more he plans and works for that world even as he fights.

PENNANTS have been flown for the WAVES' first anniversary and Navy Secretary Frank Knox buttonholed congressmen to win for the organization's lieutenant commander a full captaincy. This, he argues, is the least Miss Mildred McAfee deserves, particularly if the force is to be raised from 27,000 to 91,000.

Commander McAfee's name of record is Mildred Helen; but usually it is plain Mildred, the "Helen" being silent, as in Troy these last 3,300 years. To Wellesley undergraduates she was Miss Mac. The WAVES, partly aping the real navy, call her the Old Man, a title that skirts the reefs of libel, since the commander is a mere 43 and not mannish. Trim, yes! Perhaps even a trifle prim. But her hair is black, short-cut and crinkly; her cheeks pass inspection easily with only a powder-puff's help—and her eyes! Her smile is lively, when it comes. And from any compass point she is not bad, not bad at all.

On the day she was sworn in, her smile seemed a little ironic while beaming Secretary Knox administered the oath. Maybe, however, it was only held in check by her usual reserve.

The commander is a preacher's daughter and was born in Missouri. She studied at Vassar and Chicago and taught through French, English, economics and sociology before she reached the presidency of Wellesley. In spite of the powder puff which is her limit, she wants her WAVES "to look human."

WORD comes out of Sicily that the jeep, that mechanical jack-rabbit of the American army, is now herding stamped.

Presenting to You Delmar G. Roos, Proud Dad of Jeep

More than one man in the automotive industry can claim a good mark for the blue prints from which was designed the low-slung combat car of Col. Robert Hoar's dream, but if anyone deserves to be called the jeep's daddy it is probably Barney. He was working on it as early as the spring of 1940.

Roos is a past president of the Society of Automotive Engineers and has had an adoring eye for engines of some sort ever since he cut classes to visit a roundhouse in the Bronx. He was born in New York 56 years ago, studied engineering at Cornell and won a hatful of fencing titles.

His professional career has taken him into General Electric, Locomobile, Pierce Arrow, Marmon, Durant, Studebaker and Willys-Overland to say nothing of a tie-in with various English automobile plants. In the First World War he designed special staff cars for Pershing and worked on the Liberty motor.

He is powerfully built, able to go fast at tennis and badminton. Married, he has three daughters and a 19-year-old son. He still cannot resist a roundhouse, and climbs into the cab of any locomotive on any invitation.

Definite Foreign Policy
Essential to America

The Issue: Shall Nation Adopt Policy of Participation in World Affairs or Shall We Aim at Nationalistic Goal?

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.WNU Service, Union Trust Building
Washington, D. C.

Today America faces its first real problem as a world power.

Italy lies before us. General Eisenhower, as commander of the Allied forces of invasion, suddenly becomes a statesman. He is a soldier. He can win battles. Now, he is the man ultimately responsible for directing American world policy. What is American world policy?

Eisenhower is firm in his decisions, certain in his own procedure, because he is responsible only to his Commander-in-Chief.

But who is his Commander-in-Chief? Roosevelt. A man who may suddenly leave the scene in the midst of battle, if the American public so decrees.

And then? Has America any firm foreign policy, unfettered by partisan political restriction, a clear-cut path that a fighting man or any other man can follow?

In a few short weeks from now, a group of busy, hard-pressed men are going to sit down on Mackinac island and try to write what American foreign policy they think ought to be sponsored by the Republican party.

These men have to face the question of committing the Republican party to a definite foreign policy. And paradoxically, by committing their party to a definite foreign policy, they may free both political parties of all commitment on foreign policy. For if the Democrats frame similar resolutions, they can save America from a vicious split—on which, if it is not avoided, will crash party lines and can destroy the two-party system, the rock of our democracy.

The issue which America faces is simple: shall we, as a nation, underwrite a policy which will implement our participation in world affairs or shall we retire unto ourselves and pursue the nationalistic policy which says in effect: let the rest of the world stew in its own juice?

Until we took the Philippines, America was able to leave the great and vital problems which should have no political tinge, outside partisan politics. We have had other problems which have remained essentially non-partisan.

The Problems

Take labor. A vital question. But has labor ever voted solidly for one ticket or the other? No. The AFL will cast its traditional Republican votes in the coming election as it always has. Some of the CIO members will vote to support the administration. Others will vote as they damn please.

Slavery—really a labor question. That did nearly wreck the republic because it was made a partisan issue when it was not an issue at all. Many of the influential southerners were just as ready to free their slaves as the rabid abolitionists, heated with emotional fervor, failing to grasp the economic significance, were to force them to.

Again, unless a cold, calm discussion and understanding of the question of foreign policy takes place, we may face another split which, although it need not mean civil war, may mean a horrid dislocation of our whole political system.

When we went into World War II after Pearl Harbor, the word "isolationism" was forgotten. Today it has come back into our vocabularies and is being batted about, like other political footballs, by people who really don't understand its implications and are woefully ignorant of what dissection it may cause.

Politicians want to overlook it. They can't. This group of Republicans, headed by Deneen Watson, and a whole flying squadron of Democrats, too, are insistent that they be allowed to "let the people know." They are going to speak their pieces. And the only hope of lifting this discussion out of partisan politics is a "settlement out of court," an agreement by both parties on a single foreign policy.

Let's get back to that hot and perspiring day in Washington late last month when Deneen Watson and his colleagues from this self-appointed Republican organization, the Republican "foreign policy association," walked across quiet Lafayette park opposite the White House and presented themselves to Chairman Spangler of the Republican national committee.

Results of Session

It was some time before the results of this meeting between Watson and his colleagues and Chairman Spangler of the Republican national committee leaked out. Those with an anti-Republican slant, wove the words dropped into a threatening split in the Republican party, a drive to nominate Wendell Willkie for president.

To the person who tried to be objective, it was neither.

Mr. Spangler has one job—to keep the party together, to eschew any favoritism for any policy or any person. Naturally, these persistent persons who called upon him were presenting a problem. I believe it was that fact rather than what his critics said that indicated there was a leaning toward the "status quo" attitude, the desire to remain a purveyor of platitudes and follow the tide rather than to face it.

This issue—full participation in world affairs versus a return to nationalism or isolationism, if you will—is, according to our most earnest non-partisans, the most important issue which has faced the public and should not be a political football.

Briefly, what the men with their sleeves rolled up at Mackinac in September have to face is this: shall we, good Republicans, come out frankly for world-co-operation or dodge the issue?

What the Watson association demands is more than that and something the Republican national committee must face: will the party officially get behind a nation-wide campaign to "educate" the people on the international issue?

Unfortunately, personalities do get mixed up in these things and Wendell Willkie has become the symbol of the international view.

That is why it is essential, if the party is to take the issue out of partisan politics and disassociate it from any of the individuals aspiring for the Republican candidacy, that they must go on record.

The Monroe Doctrine

Walter Lippmann has written a book called "American Foreign Policy" and the point he makes is this: until 1900, politics did stop at the water's edge. We had a foreign policy (or thought we did) which was the Monroe Doctrine. According to Lippmann, we were living under a delusion. Namely, that we had under the Monroe Doctrine declared our whole policy—America for Americans (period) which implied, of course, that the rest of the world could do what it pleased so long as it kept off our grass.

We believed that we could enforce that policy ourselves. That was not correct. We were really depending on the British fleet to enforce it. It happened to be to British advantage to agree, so there was no trouble.

Then we mixed in world affairs, found we had to fight our own battles, and did it—took over Hawaii, the Philippines. But we didn't provide the means to hold them. And so, disagreeing on the various steps necessary to carry out our foreign policy, we failed to provide the means to do so—Britain was busy elsewhere, and one morning we lost the Philippines and came within an eyelash of losing Hawaii.

And so we now face the necessity of framing a new foreign policy which must include the willingness to provide security for our own shores and those other contiguous shores (South America and Canada) which might be used by an enemy against us. Or we have to take part in prophylactic measures—to stop the danger to our security in advance.

That issue once clarified by the two political parties will leave us free for a good, old-fashioned free-for-all political campaign, and if the best man wins, or the worst man wins, his policies can't affect the international welfare of the nation.

Failure of both parties to clearly set forth their views on foreign policy may well create a third party movement which could wreck the two-party system, the rock on which our Republic is founded.

GRENADA GARDEN CLUB

The Grenada Garden Club held its regular monthly meeting August 19, 1943 in the lovely home of Mrs. W. E. Jackson. Summer flowers, very beautifully arranged, made this an appropriate meeting place.

The members were called to order by the President, Mrs. Glen Thomason. Reports were given by the Treasurer, Miss Willie Cuff, and the co-chairman of the Civic Committee, Mrs. Will Hill. Mrs. Jackson gave a report of the work done by the club for the Red Cross. The president thanked Mrs. Jackson for writing the cards each month to remind members of the meeting. Mrs. Patty gave an interesting report on the Victory Gardens. The adult prize winners were Mr. T. H. Kincaid, first prize; Mr. C. A. Beasley, second prize. The prize winners for the children were Eleanor Green, first, and Louise Marascallo, second. There were ninety-five gardens worked by the colored people. They were given prizes, and are being encouraged to plant fall gardens. Mrs. Thiel called the roll and read the minutes. The president appointed on the Nominating Committee, Mrs. L. J. Doak, Miss Mamie Cuff and Mrs. George Grant.

Mrs. Revell gave a report on the Flower and Vegetable Show. Friend ship Club won first garden prize for clubs. Mrs. Giles Patty for the individual prize; Mr. C. W. Briscoe won first prize and Mr. C. A. Beasley second in the men's Victory Garden Display. The fine vegetables brought in by Camp McCain made a large contribution to the show.

Prizes for flowers were awarded to the following who brought medium containers: Mrs. G. D. Thomason, first; Mrs. W. E. Jackson, second; Mrs. Geo. Grant, third. Prizes for flowers in large containers were awarded as follows: first prize, Mrs. L. J. Doak; second, Mrs. W. E. Jackson; third, Mrs. J. W. Hill.

The Program Chairman, Mrs. T. B. Revell introduced the speakers, Mrs. Sallie Irby and Corp. Cook, of Camp McCain.

Mrs. Irby gave a helpful talk on fall gardens. She stated that the same kind of seeds that are planted in the spring can also be planted in the fall. She based her talk on her own experience which made it all the more interesting.

Corp. Cook, of Camp McCain gave an instructive talk on the care of fall flowers, and the beauty of wild flowers, so easily transplanted into the town gardens.

He showed colored sketches of wild flowers, which were enjoyed. Corp. Cook has his own flowers in his garden in Arkansas, and his interest in flowers is genuine.

Mrs. Thomason expressed the regret of the entire club over losing one of its most active members, Mrs. Giles Patty. She presented to her a beautiful compact as a parting gift. Each member present wrote a note of good wishes for Mrs. Patty to open when she goes to her new home in Meridian.

The hostess served delicious sandwiches and Coca-Cola, after which the meeting adjourned.—Mrs. Leslie Palge, Reporter.

Two At Once

In all seriousness, our city government should seek to acquire another fire fighting apparatus.

Grenada has the same equipment that it had when, in the remote past, a volunteer bucket brigade was the only means of fighting fire. So far as I can remember the bucket brigade went out about 48 years ago when water works were established in Grenada.

In the meantime Grenada's normal peacetime population has about tripled; and its present population is easily five times the population at the time our present one-engine fire department was established.

Grenada DID have TWO fires at the SAME time week before last. Fortunately, both were caused by electricity setting fire to wire, and the second fire was able to be controlled by crude methods. The next time, two REAL fires, not so easily controlled, may break out at the same time.

Right at the present time, a bunch of new houses are being erected on Poplar Street, and construction of a number of new houses is about to start between Pecan Street and No. 8 Highway. People are crowded into many homes like sardines in a can. Hundreds of oil stoves are placed here and there near easily ignited substances. Tensets are naturally not as cautious about the safety of property as are the owners of that property. Hundreds of them can throw their few "things" into a suitcase and be gone forever, and without personal loss if the whole town burns.

Remember folks, the apparatus that serves Grenada today served Grenada when Grenada practically ended at Hoffa Ditch. Remember we have tempted Providence a long time. Remember this: the time will surely come in this overgrown community when we will have TWO fires at the SAME time. The solution is to establish another fire station somewhere near the center of the area South of Hoffa Ditch.

Controlling Inflation

As another war loan drive is about to get under way, it is timely for me to repeat some things that I have said previously.

The United States government has but three ways to obtain money to prosecute the war effort, viz: get it in taxes, borrow it, or print it.

Unless a federal sales tax is instituted, the limit on the ordinary sources of federal income has about been reached. In short, the income tax revenue is up against the law of diminishing returns. Capital will take the studs and balk if much more taxes are sought via the income tax route.

The federal government is seeking to augment its necessary income by selling war bonds. And, it must be remembered that its bonds are no better than its currency. In fact the bonds are better because they bear small interest, while hoarded currency bears no interest whatever. In fact, if currency is hoarded to a large extent, money MUST be printed.

Let's say that you have $1000.00 either lying idle in the bank, in your pocket or hid under the third brick in the third tier of brick in your hearth. That money is doing you no good, and is doing the government no good. If you elect to rent it to the government, you prevent the government from printing $1000.00 of new money, halting inflation to that extent. If, however, you elect to hoard it, you take that much money out of circulation and will force the government to print $1000.00 hastening inflation to that extent.

Now money is like every other commodity, for the more money there is the less of other things that money will buy; just as in the case of cotton (or wheat, baseball bats, apple pie, or any other THINGS), the more cotton there is, the less money it will bring. If, withholding YOUR dollars and keeping them idle, you force the government to print more money, YOUR dollars will buy less and less of the things that you need. This practice starts a vicious circle which ends in uncontrolled inflation. If hoarding money instead of lending it to the government becomes sufficiently widespread, we are just as sure to have uncontrolled inflation—which will result in economic chaos—as the sun is rise this morning. If uncontrolled inflation comes, as it will come unless drastic measures are taken to stop its encroachment, we will lose the war, for we can not win the war against the Axis and the economic war against inflation at the same time.

Rent your idle money to Uncle Sam and thereby preserve the value of YOUR OWN dollars, prevent inflation and help win the war.

O. D. Spratlin Set A Fine Example

Mr. O. D. Spratlin, who was defeated for re-election to the office of County Superintendent of Education four years ago, set a splendid example for all defeated office holders, by inviting his successful opponent, immediately after returns were in, to come into his office and "get on to the ropes." Mr. Spratlin could have sued in his tent and postponed turning over the office and its methods of operation until the first Monday in January, 1940. Many defeated office holders, in a spirit of spite, have done this; some have gone farther than that by spending all the money and, in general, messing up affairs for their successors for a year or more.

Most of our county and beat officers have been re-elected, but a few of them have been defeated. It would be a fine gesture for the defeated officers to follow the sensible and patriotic example of Mr. Spratlin, by offering such aid as possible to the one who will succeed to the office in January.

The affairs of Grenada county are far more important than the personal grievances of any defeated candidate.

Let us, then, follow the fine example set by Mr. Spratlin.

Peace, A Long Way Off

The views of the arm chair strategists do not seem to be shared by the War Department. The arm chair boys blithely speak of peace by Christmas, and at the same time the War Department is preparing to draft men with children on and after October 1st, indicating that those in position to know the real facts are not so sanguine about an early peace.

A few fundamental facts should be kept in mind. First, Japan has surrounded itself with conquered territory on the East and South and with a friendly neighbor, Russia, on the North and West. Nothing but a suicide bomber contingent could reach the mainland of Japan until the time comes when China is wrested from the Japs or when, or if, Russia permits us to use her bases. Germany is surrounded to great depth by conquered or neutral territory. There are portions of Germany today which are inaccessible to our long range bombers. The ramparts of her Fortress of Europe have not yet been breached. In her southward sweep toward Australia, Japan was barely stopped short of her goal. Japan swept forward by the mile, while we, as in the case of Germany, crept back by the inch. If bombing could have made a nation surrender, England would have surrendered in the dark days when she stood alone. Notwithstanding the fact that the Germans are our bitter enemies, we are bound to admit that they are brave and tenacious, and, therefore, it is extremely doubtful that she can be brought to her knees by bombs alone. At a cost staggering to the imagination and so great that it will render our previous invasions puny in comparison, the continent of Europe must be invaded and Germany brought to her knees with artillery and infantry. If we take the experience that we already had with the Japs as a guide to our future experiences, it will not merely mean conquering the Japs, but actually killing practically all of them. The war between Japan and the Allies, once Germany is cut of the way, is likely to be a game of attrition, or of giving one life for the life of one Jap.

Tighten up your belts and prepare for a long war. If peace should come soon, so much the better.

Pay As We Go

With the ever increasing national debt, it is going to be impossible to balance the national budget with money received from the income tax and from other minor sources.

It seems to me, therefore, that it would be advisable for the government to follow the example set by the State of Mississippi by imposing a national sales tax. I say, make the tax high enough not only to take care of current expenses but also to retire the existing debt rapidly.

The country is running over with money. It is about as cheap as it ever was, and possibly as cheap as it will ever be (if real inflation is averted). The time to pay a debt is when you have the money. The time to impose stiff taxes is when the people generally have the benefit of cheap money. That time is now.

Speaking personally, I would rather pay ten per cent sales tax on EVERY thing I buy than to pass on to my descendants the burden of debt that they were in no wise responsible for.

The sales tax "worked" in Mississippi and pulled Mississippi out of the financial mire that it was in, and this same tax can put the United States government on a pay as it goes basis.

Income taxes CAN be raised to the point where those with wealth will quit having any income. The economic law, called the law of diminishing returns, is it is easily conceivable that men of wealth will "cash in" and live on capital, or seed corn, and ride out the era. It certainly would pay a wealthy man to liquidate, take a seat, and gradually live on his capital, rather than work like the devil to have an income from which several times his living expenses would be taken as income taxes. If such a practice became wide spread, the government would be forced to resort to sales tax to meet expenses.

Cold Storage "?" Plant

The elections are over. It will soon be time to kill hogs. No farmer has sufficient corn to feed a FAT hog. The hog should be killed when he is in maximum flesh, and not be killed at some uncertain date when the moon, the zodiac and the weather are right.

Grenada county has gone to a large expense to build a complete cold storage plant for the purpose of taking care of meat, irrespective of the weather. If there ever was a time in the history of our country when no chances should be taken with such a vital commodity as meat, that time is RIGHT NOW.

It is a shame before God and man for Grenada county farmers, who have paid for a cold storage plant, to be forced to transport their meat to Charleston or Calhoun City.

Something should be done about this condition, even if the county has to take care of a small loss (if there should be such) in the cost of operation of its own plant. In fact, there is no need to lose anything, for the rates could be raised sufficiently, if they are not now high enough, to care for the expenses of operation.

Thanks For The Business (?)

The old lady who, in normal times, is in the real estate business is literally deluged with business sent her, by almost everyone who is approached about living quarters. It seems that in every case, folks are sent to Mabel.

She knows nothing, not even a chicken coop or a dog house, which is for rent. All she can do is cry on the shoulders of those vainly seeking rooms. SHE HAS NO ROOMS.

If you just MUST send somebody to the GCW office, send those who are not spindle-legged and flat chested. Send some round-legged and round-chested customers for us to tell that we are "out of soap."

Seriously, we know of no living quarters, have not known of any for several months, and do not expect to know of any for the duration. Stop passing the buck to us. You waste their time and our time too.

The Goober Nightmare

WHEN I WAS A SMALL BOY I LIKED RAW GOOBERS AND AT THAT TIME ABOUT ALL WE DID WITH THEM WAS FEED THEM TO MONKEYS. ONE DAY I HEARD SOME ONE TALKING ABOUT "PEANUT BUTTER"—I ASKED MY FATHER WHAT PEANUT BUTTER WAS MADE FROM AND HE SAID THEY MADE IT FROM GROUND UP GOOBERS. NATURALLY AS SOON AS THEY STARTED ATTRACTING SOME ATTENTION, THEY GOT RITZY AND DROPPED THEIR AFRICAN NAME AND TOOK ON THE NAME PEANUT INSTEAD OF GOOBER—NOT SO MANY DAYS AGO I ATE A BIG GOOBER AND HAD A NIGHTMARE WITH MY EYES WIDE OPEN

What If The Cow Got Mad

IN THIS NIGHTMARE I WONDERED WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF THE COWS GOT MAD ON ACCOUNT OF BEING TRADED FOR RED POINTS AND ALL SWAM OVER TO SICILY AND THE HOGS WENT ON A SIT DOWN STRIKE ON ACCOUNT OF HAVING TO STAND ON THEIR FEET OVER FORTY HOURS EACH WEEK AND WHAT IF WE HAD NO FLOUR ON ACCOUNT OF THE WHEAT BEING HELD SO LONG THE BUGS GOT INTO IT AND IT HAD TO BE DUMPED AND SUPPOSE THE BOLL WEEVIL DESTROYED ALL OF THE COTTON—WHAT A GLOOMY NIGHTMARE.

I Got From Under The Mare

YES! IT WAS A RELIEF TO GET FROM UNDER THE OLD MARE BECAUSE SHE SURE HAD MY EARS PINNED BACK AND I WAS LOOKING STARVATION IN THE FACE, SO I THOUGHT—AFTER DOUSING MY FACE WITH COLD WATER I BEGAN TO THINK SOMETHING ON THIS ORDER—

Not A Worry In The World

I NEED NOT WORRY ABOUT BEING HUNGRY THOUGH I NEVER SEE ANOTHER GRAIN OF WHEAT, HOG OR COW SO LONG AS WE HAVE PLENTY OF PEANUT BUTTER AND SWEET POTATOES—POUND FOR POUND THE PEANUT WILL TOP SHERLOK FOR PROTEINS, THE BEST POTATOES FOR CARBOHYDRATES AND BUTTER FOR FATS (EXCUSE IT LADIES, BUT IT'S A FACT), PEANUT BUTTER IS A YEAR ROUND FOOD, EASY TO PREPARE, INEXPENSIVE AND DELICIOUS WHEN SERVED WITH OTHER FOODS. I LIKE MINE BEST WHEN SERVED ON A SLICED BANANA—IT'S QUITE A COINCIDENCE, BUT RIGHT AFTER THIS NIGHTMARE I CHECKED MY STOCK AND FOUND A BIG SUPPLY OF GOLD CRAFT, TOP QUALITY AND ARMOUR'S PEANUT BUTTER—GET YOURS TODAY.

'They Advanced Our Operations by a Week'

High above Sicily groups of gliders dip earthward as silently as the air which flowed smoothly over their streamlined surfaces. They swoop to a stop in some remote farm field. Men, heavily armed quickly step from the gliders, then dash for cover. The only sound is the booming of nearby enemy and invading force fire. At the rear, enemy lines are thrown into confusion by a barrage from grenades and howitzers. The glider borne troops are at work. With its fire divided the enemy fails to stop the invading troops who take a beachhead and rapidly advance inland.

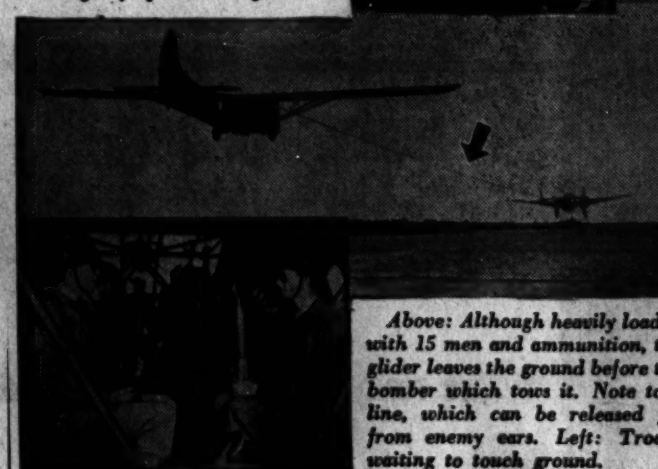

The training of glider pilots begins in light planes like this. After eight weeks they progress to larger sailplanes, the transport gliders.

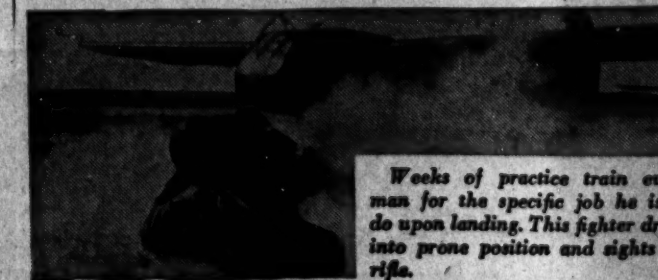

The sudden morale shattering attacks of glider borne troops which dropped out of the night sky so disrupted enemy defenses in Sicily that General Sir Bernard L. Montgomery said: "They advanced our operations by a week."

Troops leap from the glider and charge through a protective smoke screen to take nearby enemy installation by surprise. Just such attacks marked the largest air borne troop operations in history which began at about 10 p. m. the night of the Sicilian invasion.

Weeks of practice train every man for the specific job he is to do upon landing. This fighter drops into prone position and sights his rifle.

DRIPPING FLUSH TANK

Question: Water drips from my flush tank day and night. We are told it is from condensation, for there is no leak. How can the dripping be stopped?

Answer: Your water supply is evidently very cold, so that the flush tank becomes chilled; condensation results when warm and damp air is cooled by the contact. Usually, the dripping will not last more than an hour or two after each filling of the tank, for the fresh tankful quickly loses its chill. If the dripping continues, it is because of a leak in the tank by which the tankful of water is kept at its low temperature. The leak can be stopped by putting in a new inlet washer or repairing the outlet of the tank.

Gas Range

Question: I have had a gas range for about three years, but have found it unsatisfactory for baking. A mechanic who inspected it for a leak says that it is not getting enough air because it is too close to the back and side walls. Before having it moved I'd like your opinion on whether greater air circulation will make it better for baking.

Answer: I hardly think so; for the trouble is very evidently in the adjustment of the burners. Ask the gas company to send an engineer to make an inspection. He will make tests to learn the cause of the trouble and will correct it.

Drain Cleaners

Question: A plumber tells me that I should not clean a clogged drain with a chemical; for later it may become clogged in the pipes. Is this so?

Answer: Drain cleaners are either caustic potash or caustic soda. Caustic potash in boiling water converts the grease in the pipe to a soft soap, which washes away. Caustic soda, on the other hand, combines with grease to form a compound that is nearly insoluble. It is probably this to which the plumber refers. The label of the can should state the formula used.

Septic Tank Care

Question: In my summer home I drain my plumbing in the fall and fill the traps with kerosene. In the spring I let the kerosene drain off into the septic tank. But a friend says that this may affect the bacterial reaction there. Is this so?

Answer: Yes, it is true, but can be corrected. Drain off plenty of water to flush the tank. Then dissolve six yeast cakes in tepid water in a wash basin and let it drain down into the septic action. Repeat in a week.

Patriotic Prints

Question: I want to put up patriotic pictures in my boy's room. What do you suggest?

Answer: The Army-Navy Relief Campaign, Post Box 666, New York City, is putting out four-color prints of Paul Revere's Ride that should be appropriate. They can be had for 25 cents in coin or a 25-cent defense stamp. In addition to getting the prints, you would be supporting a most worthy cause.

Basement Playrooms

Question: Where can I get literature about basement recreation rooms?

Answer: Manufacturers of insulating wallboard and asphalt tile have photographs of basement playrooms in their catalogues. You will also find recreation room plans for basements in Popular Mechanics Magazine Yearbook; the publisher's office is at 350 Fifth Avenue, New York.

Space for Coal Bin

Question: What should be the height, length and width of a box I wish to make to hold one ton of stove coal? I feel sure that I have not received my full quota.

Answer: One ton of coal takes up about 38 cubic feet, but this is only an average; the dimension varies. A box measuring 3 by 3 feet by 4 feet high should hold a ton.

Cellar Floor Paint

Question: How can I prepare my cement cellar floor for painting, and what kind of paint should I use?

Answer: The floor should be cleaned and free of grease spots. The paint should be of a kind that is proof against the effects of lime; there are several varieties to be had at a large paint store.

When armored knights met, it was customary for each knight to raise the visor of his helmet as a means of identification. This gesture has come down through all armies in the form of the salute. Traditional, too, is the Army man's preference for Camel cigarettes. With men in the Army, Navy, Marines, and Coast Guard, actual sales records in their service stores show that Camel is the favorite. It's one of the favorite gifts with service men. TO THE VOTERS OF BEAT FOUR

I am grateful for those who voted for me, and have no ill feelings for those who voted for my successful opponent, Mr. J. B. Strider, for whom I wish a successful administration of the Beat's affairs. Any way I can help make us a better supervisor, I shall be happy to do.

Sincerely, Glen Thomas.

ELLIOTT THANKS VOTERS

The best way I know how to show my appreciation to the people of Beat Five for electing me is to strive to use the eight years experience that I now have in making you a better official. I shall try to do this. Again, thanking you.

Yours sincerely, Jim Elliott.

CARD OF THANKS

I am extremely grateful for the fine vote given me by the people of Beat Three in my first venture into the political arena. I accept my defeat gracefully, and I wish for my successful opponent, Mr. Warner Horton, a very successful administration.
